

NORTH ACADEMY

GRADE 5 COMMUNICATION PLAN 2017-2018

Mrs. Nancy Coleman
661-2464 ext. 166
colemann@ccrsb.ca

F.Y.I.

Expectations of Students for Success

- >Classroom rules and routines to be followed.
- >Respect yourself and others.
- >Complete all classwork, homework, projects and assignments on time.
- >Come prepared for class.
- >Be responsible for learning: students must catch up on work when absent.
- >Give your best effort.

Communications

Phone calls, parent/teacher interviews, daily homework, notices, monthly calendar, emails & report cards.

Ways in which parents can initiate communication

Phone calls, notes in agenda/on report cards and emails.

Assessments

Homework, tests, quizzes, daily work, projects, reports, conferences, class participation, observations, running records.

LANGUAGE ARTS

Often, language activities are integrated with content subjects. The program is divided into three categories.

Speaking/Listening

Participation in discussions, formulating questions and opinions, following directions, listening critically to others and responding, presentations and audience awareness.

Reading and Viewing

Selecting text both fiction and non-fiction, locating information, independent reading, shared reading, research, reader's theatre and reading for meaning strategies.

Writing and other ways of representing

Story writing (creative, informative), letters, poems, reading responses, story maps, spelling, punctuation, sentence structure, paragraphs, word study, note taking, writing process, posters, reports, technology, artwork.

MATHEMATICS

The program is divided into five categories. Mental math is a required component for all five areas.

Topics may include:

Number Concepts: place value, fractions, decimals, whole numbers addition, subtraction, multiplication and division to help solve equations.